

Barking dogs

Dogs that bark excessively can be a source of great irritation for neighbours. Dogs bark for a reason, and there are many ways that excessive barking can be managed.

Why dogs bark

Barking is one of the ways dogs communicate. It can mean anything from playfulness to danger. And as you can imagine, excessive barking can be very annoying for neighbours. Even though they appear to be 'barking for no reason' they are in fact trying to communicate something to their owner or anyone who is willing to pay attention.

The following are some of the main reasons why dogs bark:

- lack of exercise
- inadequate yard space
- boredom
- not enough human companionship
- hunger or thirst
- inadequate shelter
- disturbances
- movement outside the dog's property

Dogs also bark to alert their owners of trouble, such as an intruder entering the property. Remember, a dog's idea of an 'intruder' may differ to that of the owner. It could include cats, possums, other dogs, or even birds flying across the property. While it is acceptable for a dog to bark to warn its owner of an intruder, it is the owner's responsibility to train the dog not to bark at 'normal' occurrences such as possums, cats or birds.

Got a barking dog complaint?

Try talking to the dog's owner about the problem first.

They may not even be aware of the problem if the dog is only barking when they are out. You may be able to help them identify why the dog is barking.

The Dispute Settlement Centre provides free advice to help neighbours sort out problems such as barking dogs, phone 1800 658 528.

If you want to make a complaint to Council, we ask that you to keep a diary for a week to record how often the dog is barking. This is so we can determine whether the barking is causing an unreasonable disturbance.

Council may issue a warning to the dog's owner, or a formal Notice to Comply to stop the barking. If this is not complied with, Council can issue an infringement notice. If the problem still persists, Council may proceed with legal action and seek a Court Order.

Council is unable to pursue any barking dog complaints without the following diary and statement completed accurately. If you are not willing to attend the Magistrates Court, Council cannot legally pursue the matter any further.
